To Whom It May Concern:

My name is Ricardo Calume, and I am his counselor at the Ronald Reagan Senior High School. David A. Perez is one of my best students, and it is my pleasure to recommend him, given that last year I had the honor to know him personally as well as academically. I can say that he works hard and is a very sociable person.

Throughout the year, David remained in the top ten percent of all his courses. In the junior year, during History lectures, he used to help other students to catch up. This demonstrates his social abilities and his capability to adapt to different groups of people. Regarding David's communication skills, he overcame language difficulties during junior year, given that he came from a foreign country. I consider him to have successfully crossed the language barrier, which demonstrated his interest in learning and improving his skills.

In addition, David has much extracurricular experiences to share. He started sailing when he was 7 years old. During this time, he has participated in a lot of regattas, national and international ones. He won the Spanish championship in 2014 and placed well in other events around the world. This requires time, which sometimes coincides with class. But whenever it happens, he is always responsible of the work missed. This shows that he knows how to organize his free time to maintain good grades and a good performance in his sport.

I think he is the perfect match for your institute because of his outstanding qualities and his leadership skills. If you need further information regarding this reference, it will be my pleasure to assist you.

Sincerely,

R.Calume
